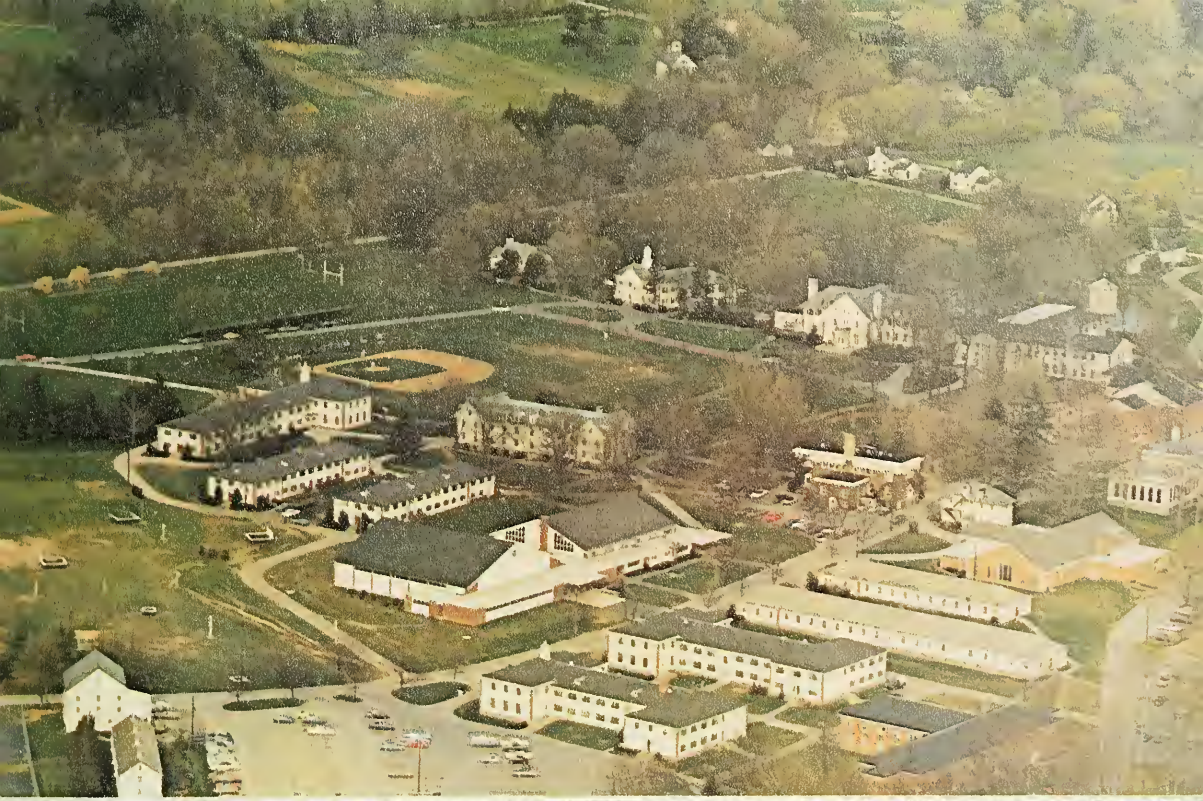
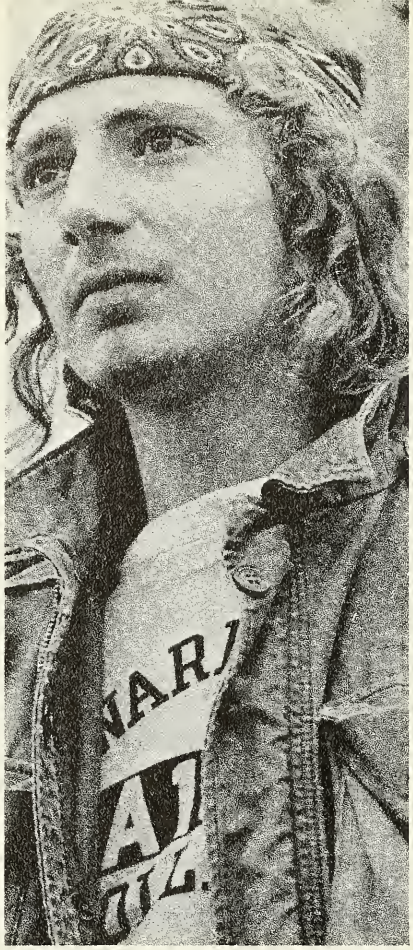
WHOM THEN, DO I CALL EDUCATED

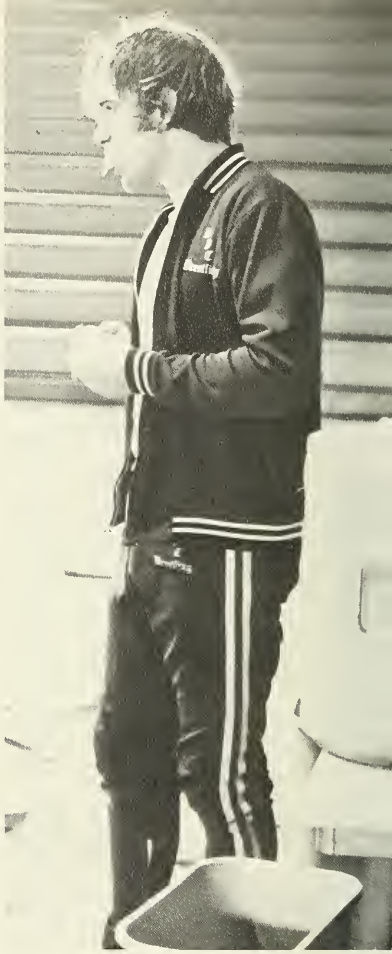
First, those who control circumstances instead of being mastered by them,
Those who meet all occasions manfully and act in accordance with intelligent thinking,
Those who are honorable in all dealings who treat good-naturedly persons and things that are disagreeable; and furthermore,
Those who hold their pleasures under control and are not overcome by misfortune; Finally,
Those who are not spoiled by success.

Socrates



It has been said, "The mind of a youth is like a blank slate upon which is written the experiences of life." Through such experience one is educated to the world around him. As the youth houses the mind, so must we too house the youth.





KNOW OURSELVES

Education begins with the improvement of the individual person. To communicate with others, first, we must know ourselves. The educated person must be aware of his weaknesses and attempt to strengthen those inner resources and traits of character which enable him, when necessary, to stand alone.

Every single man is a world which is born and dies with him; beneath every gravestone lies a worlds history — Hein

KNOWLEDGE AND SKILL

Learning general skills, techniques and specialized knowledge leads the way for an individual to do some productive work in a specific field related to his interests. Education makes it possible for a person to be useful to humanity, his profession, and to himself.

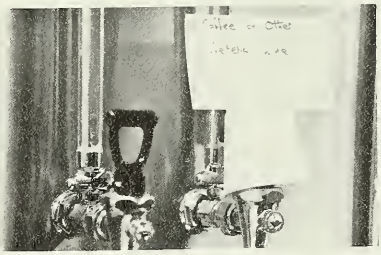
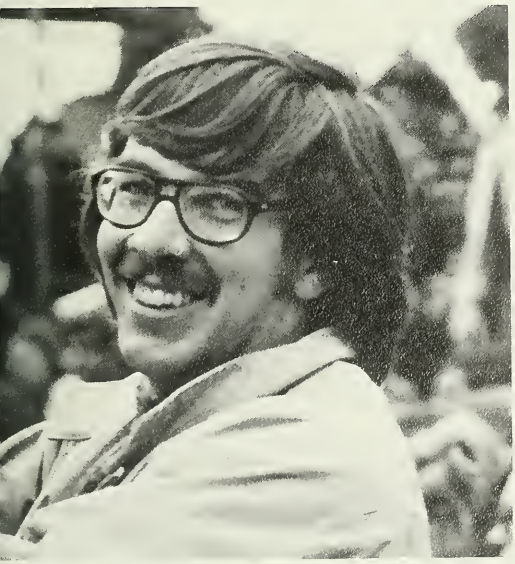
WE LEARN TO ENJOY PEOPLE

In seeking an education, we learn to have a good time with people and to enjoy being with them. This is just as important as gaining knowledge and practical skill along side of them.

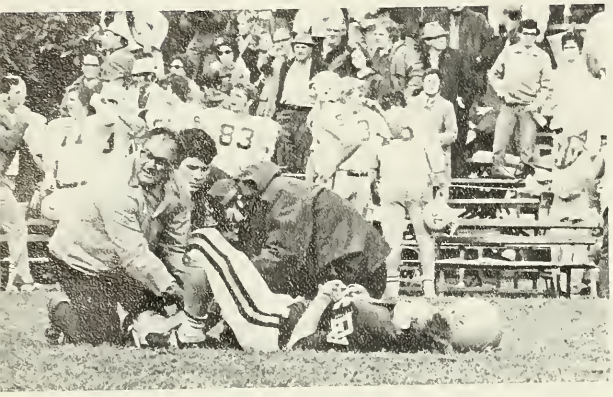




As man's ability to perceive his environment becomes increasingly acute, he is able to focus on the myriad patterns of his world.

SYMPATHY AND UNDERSTANDING

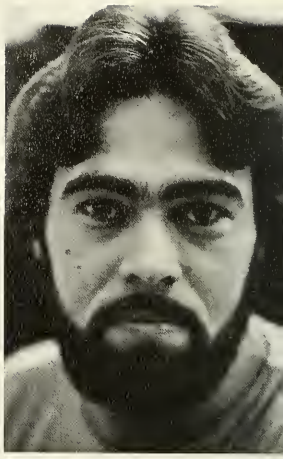
Tragedy, pain, and suffering are as much a part of life as joy, peace, and happiness. Education helps us to grow in maturity so that we are able to cope with all life's situations, both the sorrowful and the joyful. Using imaginative sympathy with the experiences of others, we should strive to understand their problems, as if they were our own.



ESSI

ONE OF MAN'S BASIC NEEDS IS TO BE A PART OF NATURE

A society which directs its achievements by material values would soon be controlled by a material environment. This is contrary to man's basic need to be a human being with an individual mind and soul; not some part of a machine for society. We should learn to be satisfied with a more natural state, concentrating our thoughts on the spiritual demands of mankind. We could begin by merely being at home with nature. Each person should have some knowledge of nature and to be aware of his natural surroundings. He should strive to be a part of nature and to experience it with others.



RECEPTIVENESS TO NEW IDEAS

We, as educated people, should be open minded and flexible in our thinking. Let us be receptive to new ideas of others as a sacrifice for peace and for the advancement of progress. One way that education can be evaluated is by noticing how much people will seriously consider the ideas of others.

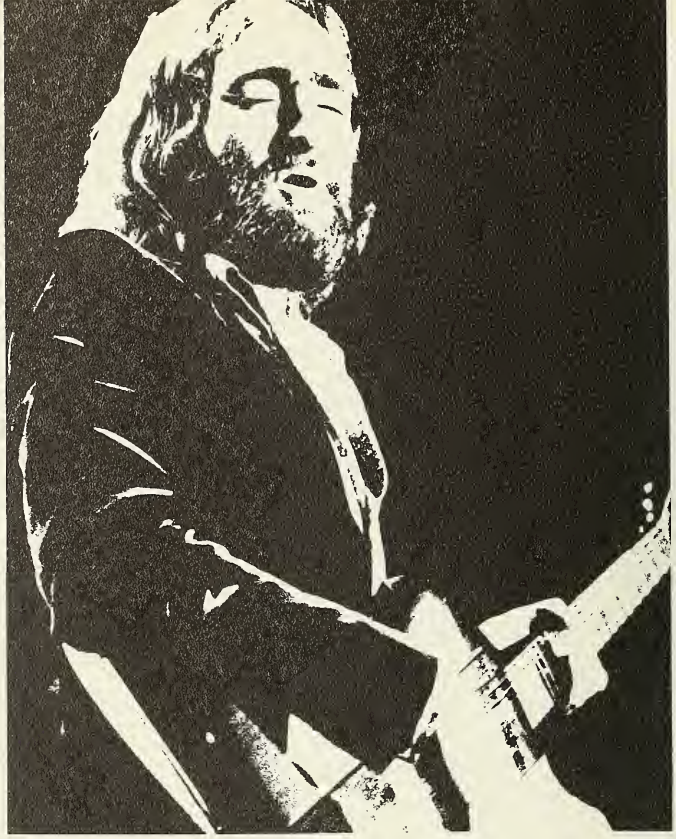
DAVE MASON AND QUICKSILVER



The Dave Mason Concert held by the Sophomore class on October 25, 1972 was one of the greatest social events ever held at Del-Val. Dave Mason is among the top living song writers of the world. His solo album is called "Alone Together". Adom, a local group, also performed.

Quicksilver, being one of the top bands in the country, gave a concert at Del-Val on March 21, 1973. Their song called "Pride of Man" set them on the road to success. It's on their first album, "Messenger Service". Sweet Freedom, a popular local group, who also performed on A-Day last year and various mixers were part of the show that night.

To the members of the Class of 1973,

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for allowing me to serve as your class adviser, dedicating your yearbook to me, and asking me to contribute these few lines to the 1973 Cornucopia. I am sincerely honored by all of these.

Rather than becoming overly sentimental and reflecting back upon all the various experiences we have shared over your past four years here at Del Val, I would rather like to leave you with a philosophical thought upon which you might reflect as you proceed in life.

Life gives little
But it has so much to offer
If but only you ask.

It has been a pleasure.

PRESIDENT

To the Members of the Class of 1973

During the time you have spent here you have been an important part of the broadening and strengthening of our educational program, and of the growth in our athletic and social activities, and have seen the great expansion in our physical plant, with the construction of the new Agriculture Building, the new Gymnasium, the new Dormitory, and other buildings of lesser magnitude.

You have been with us during this period of these steps forward, which we have almost come to accept as a matter of course, and during the crucial evaluation for reaffirmation of our accreditation by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. You have shared with us our joy when we learned we had accomplished all, and in fact considerably more, than was expected of us since our accreditation in 1962.

I am sure that all of these things could not have been achieved without your help. I hope these experiences have instilled within you a deep respect and love for your Alma Mater, and for those principles for which it stands. I hope this respect and love may be expressed through your continued support of the affairs of the College, for the future of the College, more now than ever before, depends upon the loyalty and concern of its graduates.

Sincerely,

James Work

To: Senior Athletes of the Class of '73

It is with great pleasure that I share with you in this yearbook, and I commend you, the Senior Athletes of Delaware Valley College, for the fine reputation you have earned throughout the Eastern Collegiate Athletic world.

It is an honor for me to be part of this group. I have been able to sense the outstanding loyality, pride, and devotion you have for your College. Soon you will join one of the finest groups of people with whom I have ever associated, the Delaware Valley Alumni.

Here, at Delaware Valley College, we endeavor to conduct a vigorous, prudent, quality intercollegiate athletic program, crucial to an appropriate balance in the over-all program of college activities. The many permissive and dissenting influences prevalent in campus life today, create a need for discipline and performance-oriented programs; thus, providing intercollegiate sports with an even more important role than that traditionally assigned.

Participation in sports tends to instill the awareness that victory comes through hard work, team play, self-confidence, and an enthusiasm that amounts to dedication. These qualities, along with a good set of values, are learned through sports; thereby, making sports one of the guardians of the high standards aspired for by our Country. As Athletes, you have received the benefit that athletics can give, one that meets, in a unique way, the objective of higher education. I urge you to apply the things you have learned, as you go along in life.

Congratulations and best wishes to one and all. God speed!

Sincerely,

Ned A. Linta

In 1972, the Aggie Football team compiles a 4-4 log, registering wins over Moravian, Muhlenberg, Lycoming and Wilkes. While the Aggies were strong contenders for the M.A.C. laurels, however, inexperience, mental errors, and eratic play cost them the crown. Throughout the season the spirit and the hustle of the gridders prevailed to insure their victories and make them formidable even in defeat. Highlighting the season was the placing of four members of the team on the conference squad. While the seniors departing will be missed, a large number of fine returning underclassmen hold bright promise for next years.

Coach Berthold

The 1972 Cross Country Team experienced its best season's log in the history of the sport at Del. Val. The dual meet record was 10 and 1, with the only loss being at the hands of a strong F and M squad. The 5th. place finish in the MAC Championships was the same as 1971, though the 1972 race had a greater number of teams participating.

For a number of years, the strong point of the cross country team has been its depth, and this year this proved to be the key factor in the team's success. The season saw three of the Aggies' potential top scorers sidelined. Jim La Baugh, the team's captain and 3 year letterman, was hampered by what turned out to be mononucleousis. Joe Schiavo, who had shown great improvement as a Junior, was sidelined with a hernia. And Ken Morgan, who was showing great promise in his freshman year, was out of action for most of the season with a bone bruise.

Compensating for the injured threesome was another threesome comprised of Tim Manning, Don Murphy, and Bruce Pratt. Manning, a sophomore who showed great improvement over 1971, finished first in seven out of the 11 dual meets setting one course record in the process. Murphy, a Junior, took one first place and 7 second places. Pratt, also a Junior, took one second and 6 thirds. The other consistent scorers were Barry Hossler, a sophomore, who was out for the team for the first time and Dave Sverduk, a junior.

With the return hopefully of the majority of the underclass team members plus the addition of some current underclassmen who did not run in 1972 and some promising incoming freshmen, 1973 promises to be another good year for cross country at Delaware Valley College.

Two of this year's squad became M.A.C. champs in their respective weight classes, Ray Johnson (167), and Fran Campbell (190).

The highlight of the season for the team as a whole was when the D.V.C. matmen captured the third Lebanon Valley Invitational by out pointing the other contenders. First place finishes were compiled by Jay Yothers, Fran Campbell and Al Bartlebaugh.

There is only one word that could describe this season — Disasterous. First the season started with a back injury to Steve Zenko, then proceeded to go down hill from there. Inexperience, poor play and lack of confidence and height all combined for a dismal season.

The most courageous moment for the hoopsters was against Textile where they valiantly battled the third ranked college in the nation for three quarters then succumbed to the stronger team — A Great Effort.

A bright point in this dark season was the play of Bob "Meathead" Polinsky, who had the determination that earned him the season's MVP.

The 1973 Baseball team, behind the excellent pitching of Bob Polinsky, compiled an 8-4 log for the Spring campaign.

The Aggies were in the running for MAC laurels, due to the hitting of Biddle, Foster and Timko, and good defensive work, for most of the season. The last 2 games saw the Silan men fall prey to a fired up Juniata ballclub as some mental errors dashed Polinsky's one hitter in the first game to lose 1-0 and in the second 6-1.

Gaining some measure of revenge the Aggies defeated Juniata in the first round of the ECAC tournament before losing to Scranton in the final.

While the team is losing valuable baseball talent through graduation, enough underclassmen have played a role in this year's success to be a strong nucleus for next year's club.

For the first time in M.A.C. history an official indoor track season was implemented. While facilities are limited on the inner circuit, the D.V.C. cindermen showed promise as they finished fourth in a field of 16 teams at the indoor championships at Widener Fieldhouse.

The indoor season proved to be an important foundation upon which the Aggies dual meet record was built. A fine balance was struck between the outstanding track and field units to produce a 5-3 record. This was the first time in ten years that the team had had a winning season as well as tying the record for most wins in a track season. Outstanding performances in the weights were turned in by Peter Paugh, Joe Theesfield, and Blair Yukrainian. In the jumping events, Scoot Ellis and Weist were standouts. Dell, Fallenstein, Kobolinsky, Manning Keppler and Pratt kept their opponents eating cinders all season.

The factor that molded the cindermen into such a dedicated and feared team was the excellent young coaching staff headed by all time Aggie great Coach Ted Cotrell.

Everyone on the 1973 D.V.C. track team was a vital contributor to this year's success and with the loss of only one letter winner via graduation, the future of the team is promising.

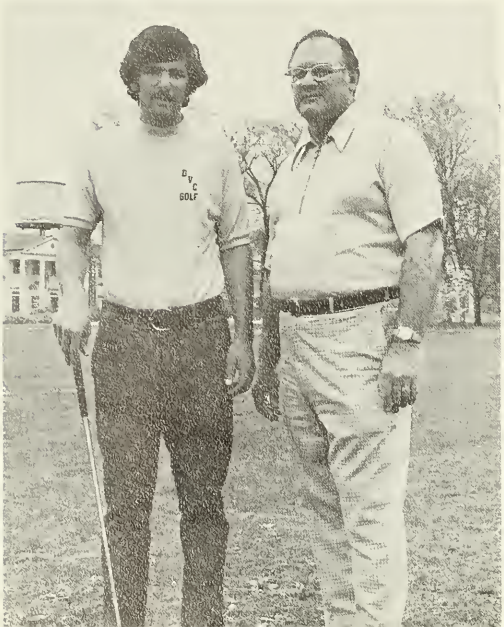
Captain Angelo Petraglia and Coach Ned Linta.



The 1973 Aggie Golf Team quickly established itself as a team to be reckoned with in MAC play as Captain Petraglia burned up the greens with his teammates to compile a 6-6 season record. This was just a portent of things to come as the Aggies traveled to Hidden Springs Country Club and captured 2nd place in the MAC tourney. Angelo Petraglia was the MAC gold medal winner on a team that fell just 4 strokes short of the MAC crown. After such an outstanding season with all but 2 lettermen returning, the DVC golf team will be a power to contend with next year.

This year's Tennis team, although not outstanding, had its finest season in several years. They brought home the first victory of the past few years with a 5-4 victory over Philadelphia Textile. The team also gave more teams a run for their money in other matches. I hope this is a good sign for the future.

VALLEY COLLEGE

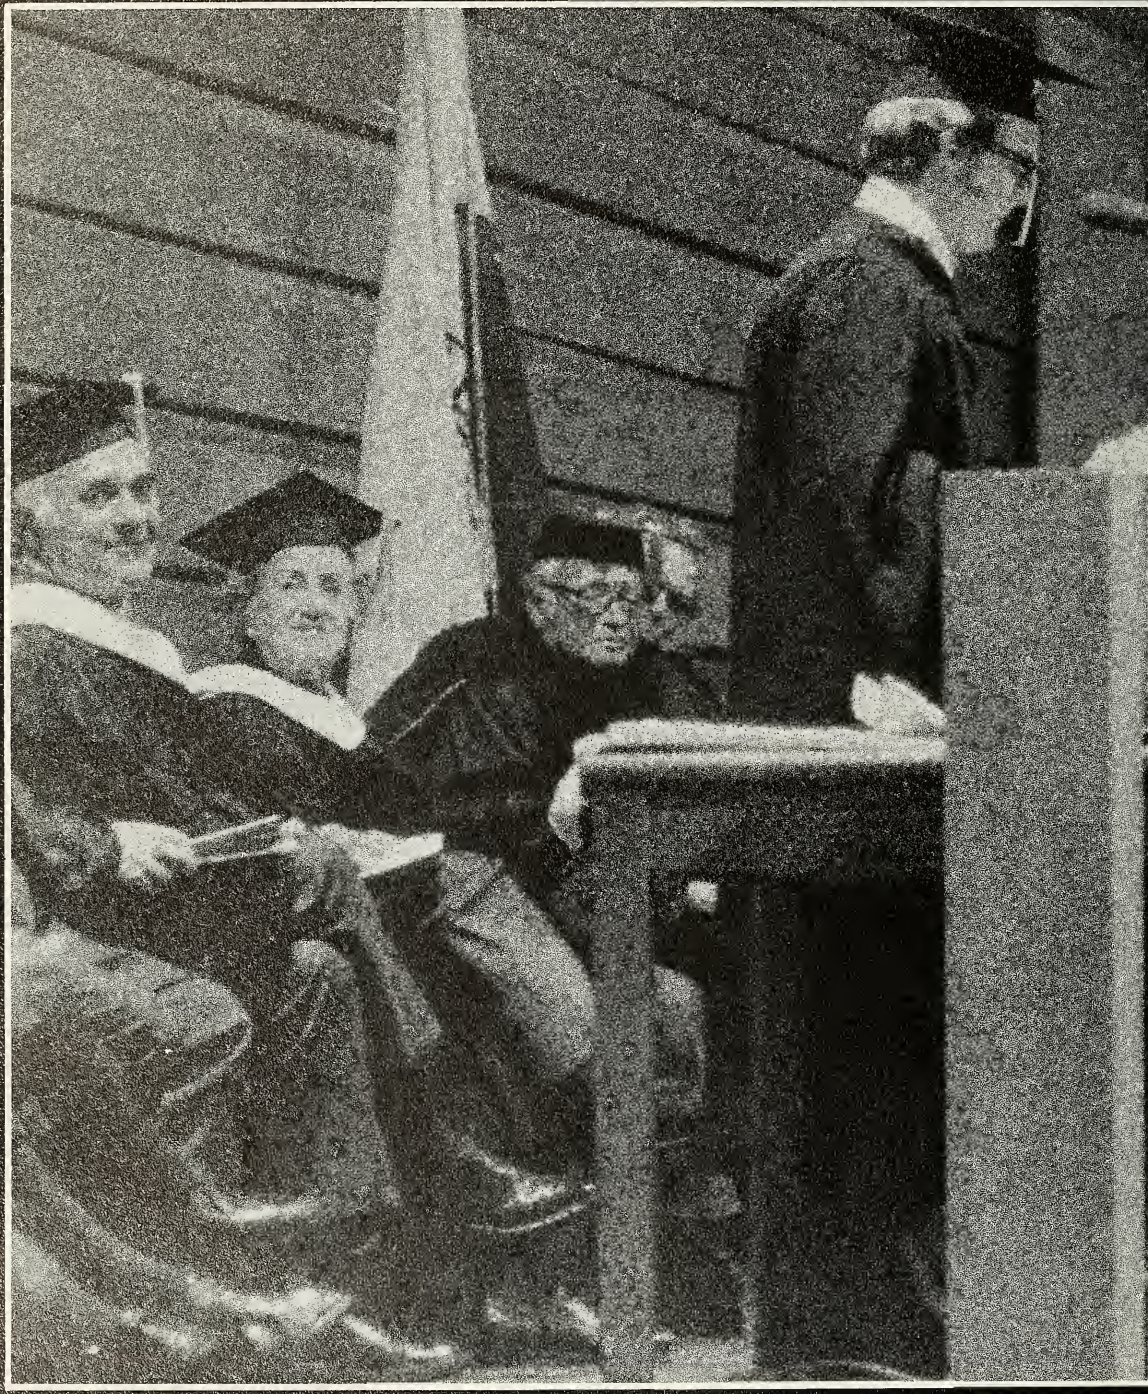
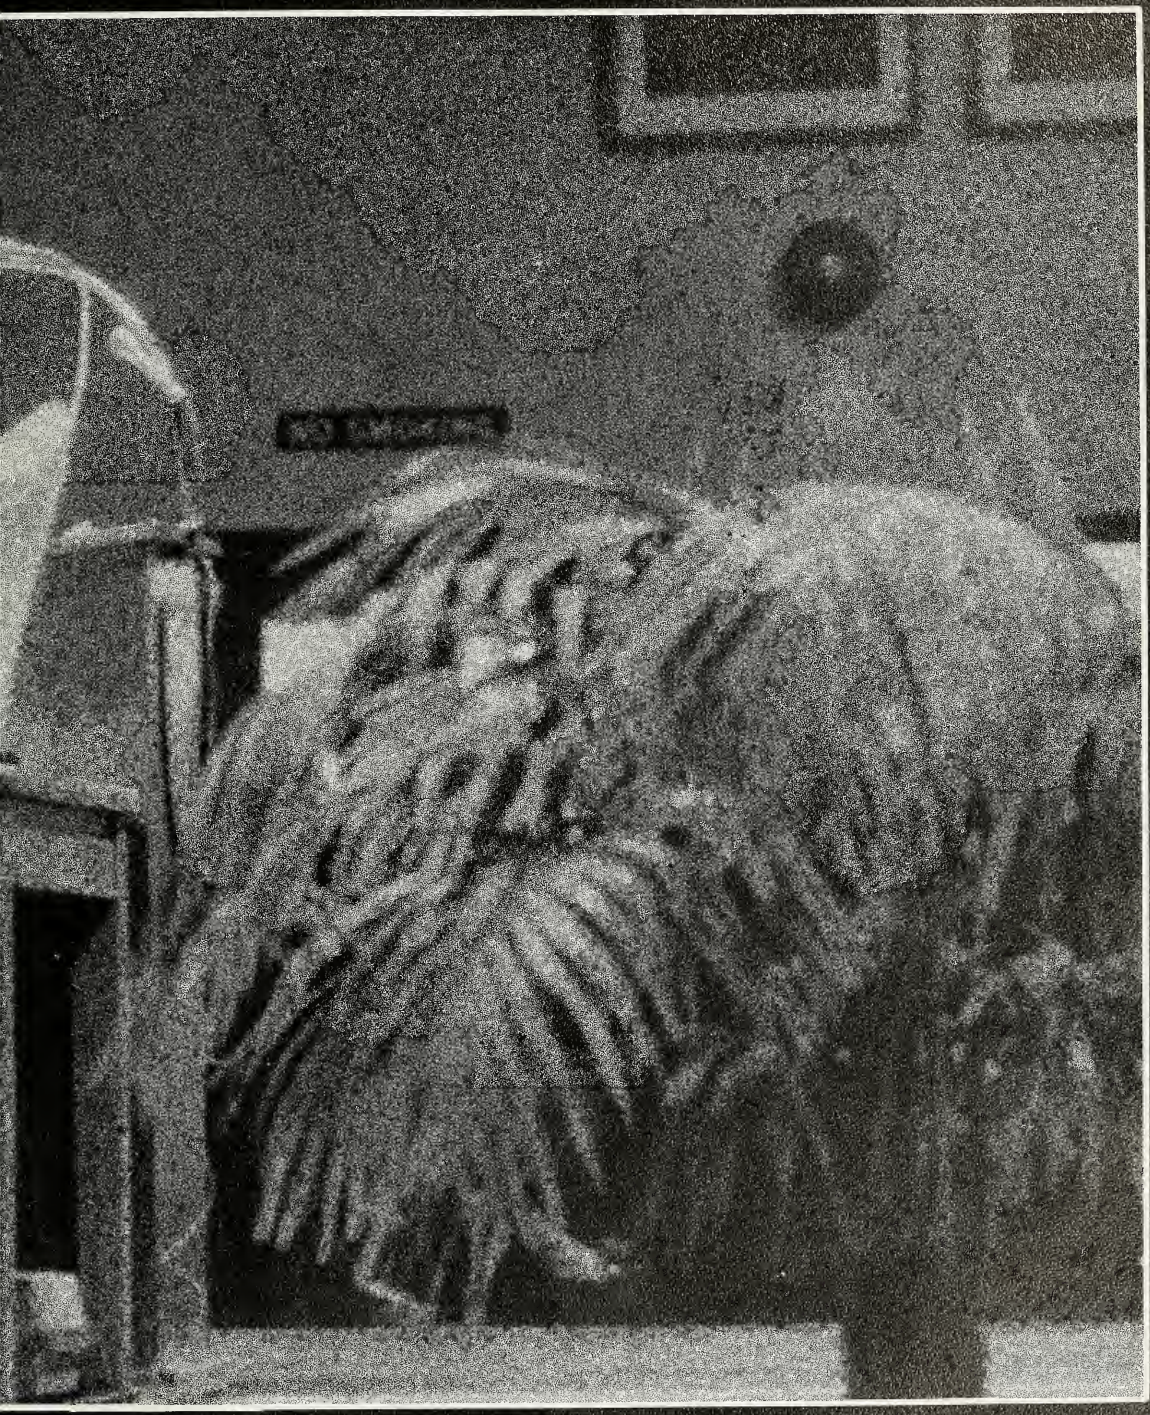
SENIORS





CLASS OFFICERS

JOHN KING
President

Fellow Classmates;

The time has finally come to graduate, and with graduation we have reached one of our many important plateaus in life. Graduating from college is a very special plateau because it is the key which can lead to higher and better expectations in life. The actual learning process is also special because it gave all of us an opportunity to help and watch each other grow and mature together academically and socially as a wonderful group of young individuals.

As we look back over our college career, starting from the very beginning, we realize it was a demanding, challenging, and at times a depressing experience, which was a very essential part in our total growth and development. Also from the very beginning as freshmen we all experienced many very exciting moments, some of which we are proud to mention, and others which we will keep stored away in our private memories of Delaware Valley College.

With our college education we have all gained so much; new friends, new knowledge, and most important a new role in life. It is just the beginning of many more important roles to come in our ever promising future. So in closing I want to wish each of you the best in all your new experiences, and that you may be blessed with all your desires in life.

Sincerely Yours,
John M. King

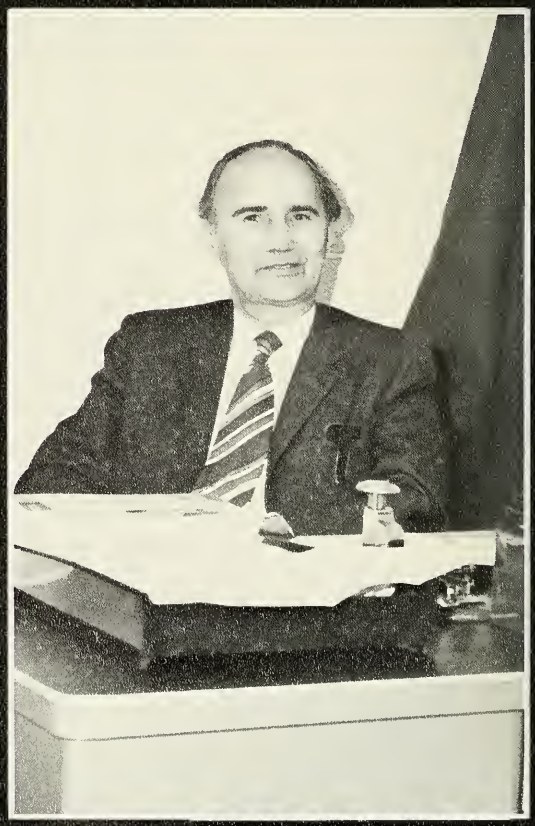
JULIAN PRUNDEANU, M.S., Ph. D., Chairman: Agronomy Department Professor of Agronomy



To The Agronomy Class of 1973:

On behalf of the Agronomy Department I want to congratulate you for the successful completion of your undergraduate studies. From now on you will be on your own. It will be up to you and you alone how far you will go in the years ahead. If past performance of our graduates is any indication I have every reason to believe that you will have a very good chance to succeed in your chosen career. While the education you received during these four years does not make you an expert in any particular field it gave you a good foundation on which to build, a foundation as good as one given by any other College and better than most.

As graduates of Delaware Valley College take well deserved pride in your ALMA MATER, keep in close touch with it and become involved in its further growth!

BEST WISHES AND GOOD LUCK!

Assistant Professor of Dairy Science

To the Dairy Husbandry Class of 1973:

As you leave Delaware Valley College reflect for a moment on your senior year, a year marked by war and peace, failure and success, disappointment and joy, futility and hope, constancy and change. These are the lessons of life for which your parents and teachers strive to prepare you. How much have you learned?

Knowledge is priceless, for without knowledge you have no power to control the events which surround your life. For many of you, formal education has ended. It is my hope that we at Delaware Valley College have helped you to gain some of the knowledge you need to face the challenges of the future. It is now up to you to build upon this background of knowledge so that you can reach the goals you have set for yourself.

I wish for you the very best as you continue to learn the neverending lessons of life.

FOOD INDUSTRY

To the Food Industry Class of 1973:

Success is my sincere wish for you in the coming years but what will be our measure of success? This has to be a very personal and individual thing in total and what my feelings say may be irrelevant but I sense they will be part of your measure.

To a professor a sense of having participated in something of success and merit is to hear of the pride and enthusiasm you have in the work you have undertaken, to grasp in your words the compassion you have for those about you, to listen in awe of the understanding you have of your work which could only have come from continued thought and study, to sense that humor has remained in your life and to see that you have struck an honest balance of obligation to employer or business, community, family and yourself.

All of these I hope you accomplish.

HORTICULTURE

To the Horticulture Class of 1973:

I congratulate you on your success in earning your degrees and feel honored to have shared in your struggles, disappointments, victories and finally this great achievement. Your success is my success.

"Si Dios quiere" — God willing, is the wish often expressed by my spanish speaking friends when anticipating the future. You have already attained a major goal in life with the completion of your basic professional education and God willing, you should continue to be successful. Future challenges and attainments depend upon your individual interests and direction in the coming years.

Remember that the sharing of your talent and joys with others may be the real spirit of life. Apply the golden rule and be fair to your associates on your way up toward the top as you may meet them on your way down.

Undeveloped talents are useless therefore give your full effort to important tasks and you should receive great satisfaction. A successful student means a successful professor and successful alumni will reflect greatly on this college and its staff. Remember that your humanistic attainments should not be sacrificed for your materialistic gain.

Best wishes to each of you for a great life.

A great deal of effort was put forth by a number of dedicated people to make this 1973 CORNUCOPIA possible. We would like to express our profound appreciation to all of those people who have contributed to the success of this publication. Many thanks to: Phyllis Shaub for her interpretation of the theme in the opening section, artist Dianne Rodgers, Norman Finnance, David Charrier, Ray Davis and John Trexler, whose research into the appropriate literature has added greatly to their sections and the entire book, financial wizard Dave Kipphut, the Howard Cosell, Don Meredith, and Frank Gifford of the printed sports page — Al Lehman, Gary Simone for his Herculean efforts on all phases of the book, particularly the Senior section after graduation, and especially to our adviser Mr. Sauer.

These people have made this yearbook one which we regard as one of the best ever to be published for this College. We hope in years to come that this 1973 CORNUCOPIA will be a mirror into which you can glance to see the past four years reflected in its' pages. On behalf of the staff we wish you all continued happiness and success now and in the future.

Sincerely yours,
Dave Thomas
